

A Vacheron Constantin chrono in a work of art?

(View entire thread)
February 29, 08 14:23

A few weeks ago we had a very interesting debate on watches as works of art.

<http://www.thehourlounge.com/index.php?module=Thread&action=view&threadid=9100&id=9100>

We all agreed to disagree on the subject but picking up from there here is something which can be called art! Herebelow is a work by American contemporary artist Steve Miller who used a Vacheron Constantin Malte Chronograph in one of his artworks!

Photo copyright Steve Miller for Iconofly courtesy of Editions Laumont

